

CRI CEO Selected as Smart 100 Recipient Victoria Johnson Recognized as a Greater Washington Leader

McLean, VA – February 19, 2009 – Communications Resource, Inc. (CRI) announced today that CEO, Victoria Johnson, has been named to the Washington SmartCEO magazine 2009 Smart100 program, an exclusive group of 100 CEOs assembled by an independent selection committee.

The Smart100 are not chosen based on the growth of the organization. A Smart100 CEO is selected for his or her Leadership, Strategic Vision and Character. Victoria Johnson, President and CEO of CRI, stated, "I am honored to be named to this select group of leaders in the Washington area. I have always believed that successful leadership, strategic vision, and character are wholly dependent upon the quality of the personnel within the firm. Our growth and customer loyalty is the result of the 120 people who are CRI."

The Smart100 companies represent a variety of industries including government contracting, information technology consulting, travel services, financial services, and video production. The average Smart100 company employs between 10 to 100 employees and generates $10-$50 million in revenue.

"The Smart100 represent 100 of greater Washington's CEO's. No other publications in the Greater Washington area have produced a publication of this magnitude with such high-caliber CEOs. The Smart100 embodies 100 CEO's with incredible business minds who have successfully grown their companies to be the best in Washington," says Group Associate Publisher of SmartCEO, Jaime Park. All Smart100 CEOs will be profiled in the 100-page annual supplement which will debut as the 13th issue of SmartCEO this spring. The Smart100 will also be listed on www.smartceo.com.
